

This filing is the best I have reviewed yet. It has something to please everyone--No code and code lovers. I have no problem with no-code although I took the code tests thirty years ago. Another alternative would be to make generals no code and Extras 12 or 13 WPM code speeds which is consistent with the old advanced class license.

I only suggestions/changes would be to merge Extra/Adv and make the current extra/advanced sub-bands exclusively extra sub-bands. As there are many more extra class operators now and in the future, there needs to be more extra class bandwidth.
